

SUMMER '14 REWIND

UK summer on track to become one of hottest in a century

Average day-and-night temperature of 16.3C makes July the joint eighth-warmest since records were first collected in 1910

"Happy" by Pharrell Williams played nonstop on Capital FM, Dolly Parton headlined Glastonbury, and temperatures soared to 29°C in Central London.

While we can't bring back the warm weather, we can bring back 2014 prices – but only for a limited time!

DON'T MISS IT!
